FROM THE CHAIRMAN

Since EDGE was created in late 2011, there have been many firsts for the organization.

Since that time, EDGE had its first board members appointed, hired its first staff members and approved its first projects all while working toward the day when we would grow to achieve not only organizational milestones, but break new ground in economic development in Memphis and Shelby County.

In 2014, that day came.

In February of 2014, the first EDGE-approved PILOT for a project in unincorporated Shelby County was awarded to Clean Line Energy. This project will bring renewable energy to the Mid-south while creating more than $37 million in projected tax revenue for Shelby County.

Then in July of 2014, EDGE held the first meeting of the Economic Development Finance Committee, created to review and approve finance projects for small and medium-sized businesses. In that meeting, EDGE approved its first loan projects including the first EDGE Loan Fund and Inner City Economic Development Loan Fund projects.

The Economic Development Finance Committee approved nine finance projects in 2014, accounting for more than $2 million in funding.

In November of 2014, Graceland received the first IDB TIF project in Shelby County for the construction of a 450-room hotel and conference center. The project will contribute to the revitalization of the Whitehaven community while creating a projected 514 new jobs and $95 million in new capital investment in Memphis and Shelby County.

Throughout 2014, EDGE also worked to complete the Regional Economic Development Plan, which follows the Brookings Institution’s Metropolitan Business Planning Model. Out of that plan came the launch of the Greater Memphis Alliance for a Competitive Workforce, the first initiative of its kind for our community, which aligns education and training with industry needs.

EDGE also continued to work on new industrial developments at Frank C. Pidgeon Industrial Park through the Electrolux Supplier Park and the CN Ridgeport Logistics Center, projects that will potentially bring hundreds of new jobs to Memphis and Shelby County.

While 2014 was a year of many firsts at EDGE, we know that many more new economic development milestones are on the horizon for Memphis and Shelby County.

The board and staff at EDGE are looking forward to making those goals a reality while continuing to grow jobs and investment in our community.

HIGHLIGHTS

FINANCE AND SMALL BUSINESS PROGRAMS

In 2014, EDGE launched the Economic Development Finance Committee to review and approve EDGE loan projects available to businesses within Memphis and Shelby County.

The ED Finance Committee approved nine loans totaling nearly $2.4 million, contributing to the total project investment of more than $6.9 million and helping to create and retain 92 jobs.

EDGE loan programs include the SBA-504 Loan Program, the EDGE Loan Fund (ELF), the Inner City Economic Development (ICED) Loan Fund and Tax-Exempt Bonds.

EDGE Loan Fund (ELF)

H&M Health and Wellness was awarded the first ELF loan in July of 2014. The ELF loan will assist in the buildout of a new clinic at 2840 Summer Oaks in Bartlett, and to provide permanent working capital.

The ELF loan will complete a combined $90,000 investment into the new Bartlett Clinic. The newly leased space is operated by Lolita Horton and Stephanie Martin and specializes in outpatient follow-up services, child physicals, sports physicals, weight-loss management, diabetes counseling and other medical testing needs.

H&M anticipates the loan will assist the clinic to hire one new employee over the next three years at an average annual wage of $35,000.

The ELF program, through partnership with the U.S. Department of Commerce Economic Development Administration, provides $50,000 to $250,000 to businesses in need of permanent working capital, facilities or equipment.

Inner City Economic Development (ICED) Fund

The ICED Loan Fund was awarded to seven companies totaling $170,000 in funding and completing more than $1.4 million in total capital investment while creating/retaining 60 jobs.

The ICED Fund, through partnership with the City of Memphis, is a three-year forgivable loan for up to $25,000 to enable small businesses in targeted neighborhoods to make facade, streetscape and interior improvements.

SBA 504 Loan Program

NovaCopy was awarded a $2.17 million Small Business Administration (SBA) 504 Loan in August of 2014 for the buildout of a new office building at the Appling Farms Business Park.

The SBA Loan, in conjunction with Renasant Bank and business cash, will create a combined $5.43 million investment for the proposed 33,000-square-foot building.

The SBA 504 Loan Program, through partnership with the Tennessee Business Development Corporation, provides businesses with $150,000 to $5.5 million for real estate, machinery and equipment.
REGIONAL ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT PLAN LAUNCHES WITH A WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT FOCUS

Through funding and guidance from EDGE, a plan has been created to prepare the region for participation in a rapidly changing global economic landscape.

On November 24, that plan was unveiled to a large crowd of civic, business and community leaders at Southwest Tennessee Community College.

"Focus: A Roadmap for Transforming the Metro Memphis Economy," is a comprehensive action plan designed to make Memphis and Shelby County a global leader in the development, production and distribution of high value goods and a model of broad-based growth.

As part of the Memphis Fast Forward Framework and co-chaired by FedEx Executive Vice President Christine Richards, Mayor Mark H. Luttrell, Jr. and Mayor A C Wharton, Jr., the Regional Economic Development Plan seeks to accomplish four main goals for the local community.

These goals include solidifying the Metro Memphis position as the preeminent center for the multi-modal movement of goods, establishing the region as a hub for innovation, becoming a model for regional collaboration, and creating opportunity by raising job skills and access.

The first initiative to launch as a result of the economic development plan was the Greater Memphis Alliance for a Competitive Workforce (GMACW).

The GMACW focuses on aligning the educational programs available with the skills employers need.

Glen Fenter, President of Mid-South Community College, has been tapped to head the GMACW.

The Regional Economic Development Plan was launched with partners from the Brookings Institution Metropolitan Policy Program and an extensive network of stakeholders, experts and civic leaders that have been engaged in the development of the Memphis and Shelby County economy.
Graceland Tax Increment Financing

Elvis Presley Enterprises (EPE) was awarded a Tax Increment Financing (TIF) District to enable the company to invest more than $95 million and create 280 new jobs. The TIF District will enable EPE to build a 450-room hotel and conference center with two restaurants and more than 16,000 square feet of meeting space. As part of the TIF, 50 percent of the real property tax revenues generated as a result of the project will be used to support the development. Over a 15-year period, the project is projected to create more than $50 million in new tax revenue for Memphis and Shelby County. The Graceland Redevelopment project is a three-phase project that includes the building of the Graceland Archive Studio, the “Guest House” at Graceland, and 200,000 to 300,000 square feet of exhibit, attraction and retail space.

The EDGE Board approved the second round of Capacity Building Grants in November of 2014 as part of a two-year, $400,000 program to assist each suburban Chamber with marketing collateral and development programs.

Memphis Ground Water Institute Grant

The Ground Water Institute at the University of Memphis was approved for a $50,000 EDGE grant to enable the research institute to complete a comprehensive multi-aquifer ground water level survey.

The Ground Water Institute at the University of Memphis was founded in 1991 to engage in applied research, excellence, education and leadership toward sustaining community ground water resources.
